

VALSPAR CHAMPIONSHIP NEWS RELEASE

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE: MARCH 13, 2020

PGA TOUR CANCELS VALSPAR CHAMPIONSHIP

On Thursday night, the PGA TOUR announced that it was cancelling the 2020 Valspar Championship, scheduled to be played next week, as well as the in-progress THE PLAYERS Championship and other PGA TOUR-sanctioned events through at least the first week in April.

“The last 48 hours have been a whirlwind,” says Tournament Director Tracy West. “While we understand and support the TOUR’s decision and have safety as our utmost priority, we still are gutted for our fans, volunteers and community. So much work by so many people goes into staging a tournament. We had a fantastic field with four of the top eight players in the world going up against our two-time champion Paul Casey and so many other top players. Ticket sales were strong, we had two great acts for our Saturday Valspar LIVE concert in Chris Young and Big & Rich, the weather report looks great. So we do have regrets about a lost opportunity.

“But in the bigger scheme of things, we are so proud to be part of the PGA TOUR, to have a great sponsor in Valspar and a wonderful base of other sponsors, vendors and volunteers. Valspar’s title sponsorship is rock solid through 2025 and we are excited about the potential for an even better tournament next year.”

There will be a full refund for all purchasers of individual tickets.

Individually purchased tickets/parking via Ticketmaster will be refunded automatically in the next 7-10 business days. There is no need to request a refund.

For tickets purchased at a Publix® Super Market, please return to the store before March 31, 2020 with your ticket to get a refund.

For tickets purchased at Hooters Restaurants, take the tickets with the receipt to the Hooters restaurant where they were originally purchased and you will be refunded via your original method of payment. Please make sure to bring the credit card used for the purchase.
